

Matthew's Music

Matthew's first performance was in a week. If he did well at the talent show, his parents might take his goal seriously. He wanted to be a rock star. He knew he would have to be noticed to achieve his goal. To be noticed, he would have to be good. To be good, he would have to practice.

As a boy, Matthew constantly listened to music. His parents always had the radio on when they were home. By the time he was in grade school, Matthew was taking music lessons. He learned the words and music to many songs. He played and sang them all the time. Matthew's parents often took him to local concerts and shows to see all kinds of musicians playing a variety of music.

Name _____